Chesapeake and Ohio Has Placed

ABOUT RAILROAD MEN

Mr. Cluis Goes Out—Captain
Westbury Returns—Southern Earnings.

The equipment agreement filed yesterday in this city between Blair and Company, the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad and the New York Security and Trust Company, filed yesterday, to cover the expenditure for steel gondolas and locomotives now being built for the Chesapeake and Ohio. The company recently placed with the Pressed Steel Car Company, of Pittsburgh, for 500 double drop steel gondolas of fifty tons capacity each, and the order is now being filled. This is in addition to the one thousand gondolas received from the same works last year, and now in service. Recently the same road ordered twenty locomotives built by the American Locomotive Company, at its Richmond works. When all the equipment now ordered has been delivered the Chesapeake and Ohio will be one of the most thoroughly equipped roads of the East.

By the use of steam, the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad has been able to greatly facilitate and expedite the unloading of coal gondolas at its great Newport News plant, where the exposure of the coal to falling weather and melting snow dampens it, and a change of temperature freezes the lumps together so that it was found difficult to dump the cars into the holds of vessels and considerable time was expended thus, and a larger force of men was required. By the use of steam through the coal the freeze is loosened and the cars dump without difficulty. The idea has saved the road considerable money, and will no doubt be adopted by other lines at their coal piers.

Mr. Victor L. Cluis, of the Rock Island system, was absent from the city yesterday hustling business for his line. He has to range over almost the entire State.

Captain C. W. Westbury, of the Southern Railway, has returned from South Carolina after spending several days in the Palmetto State.

The through Florida trains of the various lines running through Virginia are now running practically on schedule every day, and are hauling more passengers than at any time last year. The Southern Railway is growing every winter. Many of the tourists stop over in this city on their way to their homes.

The Southern Railway is now concluding arrangements with the New Orleans Terminal Company by means of which it will be able to divert its export and import traffic coming from or destined to points in the Mississippi Valley to New Orleans, instead of delivering it at Atlantic ports. First Vice-President W. F. Finley and Second Vice-President J. M. Culp have been negotiating for this change.

Mr. Arthur G. Lewis, Southern passenger agent of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, located at Norfolk, was in the city yesterday. Incidentally he was distributing some handsome menu cards issued on the cars of the Baltimore and Ohio. These cards are works of art, well worthy of preservation as souvenirs.

The report of Comptroller A. H. Plant, of the Southern Railway, shows the following earnings of the system, estimated for the second week in January: The week this year, $68,231; week last year, $72,356; increase, for the week, this year, $2,125. At this rate for the entire year an increase in earnings of nearly a million and a half will be shown.

The recent meeting of railway equipment men at the Richmond Hotel, in this city, attended by a dozen representatives of Southern roads, while of little public interest in its results, is of interest in showing that Richmond is getting more of these meetings of various railway bodies since its hotel accommodations have been enlarged. With further enlargement it is anticipated that this city will become even more of a railway center.

Announcement is made from Pittsburg that President Ramsey, of the Washburn, has placed orders for this road for 2,500 ten-ton gondolas.

FURTHER EFFORT TO SETTLE DEBT

West Virginia Committee Lists
Many Additional Deferred Certificates.

ALL PRELIMINARY STEPS

Active Negotiations Soon to be Entered Upon With Virginia.

The West Virginia Debt Committee has listed $1,700,000 of deferred certificates on the New York Stock Exchange. The total amount of the Virginia deferred certificates listed on the Exchange, including this last named sum, is now $10,410,666. The holding committee has about $300,000 more of the certificates over which it has power of attorney, which cannot be listed until put into shape. Deposits of about $300,000 are expected this and next week, so that the ten millions will be increased to eleven millions within a few weeks, it is expected. This will make up an overwhelming majority of the certificates.

Here is a statement of the entire outstanding certificates of various issues and the aggregate sum:

Certificates of 1871..... $10,410,666
Certificates of 1873..... 440,642
Certificates of 1882..... 1,255,980
Certificates of 1892..... 644,456

Total outstanding.....$12,851,743

Deposit Many Certificates.

It will be seen from these figures what a large proportion of the certificates have been deposited with the committee of New York bankers, who are now negotiating with West Virginia, for which the committee named by the General Assembly of Virginia, for a settlement with West Virginia.

The collection of these certificates and their deposit with the State of Virginia is a step preliminary to the negotiation with West Virginia, for which other preparations are now making. It is confidently believed that the negotiations are definitely begun practically all the existing certificates will have been deposited. A considerable sum in the form of certificates is believed to have been deposited in the long period since their issue. The committee has been astonished at the rapidity and volume with which these certificates have come in, the rate being from $10,000 to $100,000 per day, Saturdays excepted.

It is generally understood that when the committee have collected and deposited, the Virginia Commission and the holding committee will unite and co-operate in overtures with West Virginia looking to an amicable settlement. Further procedure, in the event of the failure of these negotiations, is being considered. It is believed that a suit may be instituted in the Supreme Court against the State of West Virginia for an accounting and a settlement. Such suit can only be brought against the State if the certificates have been deposited in this State. With these in hand, Virginia is prepared for eventualities, and is protecting herself against liability of suit by some other State.

LEAF TOBACCO MARKET.

Large Receipts and Full Sales
at All Houses—Market Firm.

The loose leaf tobacco sales were attended yesterday by the full army of buyers, and there was a full and complete market. The first of the season, which commenced yesterday, was a very good one. The total sales ran up to the neighborhood of 500,000 pounds, and the market was very firm. Some few piles were taken in because the owners thought the last bid was not big enough, but this was an exception to the rule.

Some fine sun-cured wrappers, sold by Sheburne and Son, brought $27, and many piles of good, waxey, yellow wrappers, sold by the same firm, brought $24 to $25. There were many wagons in town to-night and these with the full shipments will make a large business for the week. The market began at Stonewall warehouse at 10 o'clock; second sale at Sheburne's; third at Crenshaw's; and fourth at Sheburne's.

At Crenshaw's warehouse, Messrs. L. B. Vaughan had especially good sales, among which were transfers: W. S. Rutherford, Goodland, $13 and $14; A. H. Houchens, Goodland, $12.25, $13, $14.50, $15.50, $24, $26; R. N. Hume, Louisiana, $9.75, $12.50, $13, $15.50; J. W. Brice, Louisiana, $13.50; Isaac Evans, of Goodland, $11, $11.25; George A. Payne, of Goodland, $14.25; Julius Smith, Goodland, $15.50, $16; S. J. Wickliffe, $10, $12, $17; William Goodman, $14.50; W. F. Rice, Hanover, $11.50; J. M. Williams, Louisiana, $19, $13.50.

THE PRODUCE MARKET.

Cary Street as It Appeared Yesterday—Supply Ample.

Comparatively speaking, business was a little dull and the produce market was somewhat quiet. The receipts of produce were somewhat in excess of the demand, and the market was somewhat dull. CHIEF HULCE STRONG.

His Name Roundly Applauded

at Mr. Zimmermann's Dinner.

There was one incident at the dinner given by Alderman William H. Zimmermann to the Council and city officials Wednesday night, and that was the mention in municipal circles as chief of police.

Alderman Wood, who responded to the sentiment, "The City Council," was mentioning his original point, in which he mentioned all the city officials in a humorous way. In referring to Chief Hulce he said, "Copenhagen is still charging to feed your pulse."

And the result chief of police will be Major Hulce.

When the second line of the couple was read there was a storm of applause, which lasted for some moments, and which showed that the people of the city of the office has a powerful hold on those with whom he mingles in an official capacity. The chief occupied the modest seat in the table and was evidently touched and gratified at this hearty approval of his course by those who know him best.

State Bowling League.

The Virginia State League bowed the season's contest. The first round of the crack Arizona team battled with the champion Crystals and the Commodore played the Agriculture. The Commodore played the Crystals and the Commodore played the Crystals. The Commodore played the Crystals and the Commodore played the Crystals.

Two Circulating Libraries.

The Virginia State Library was the recipient yesterday of two new traveling libraries, each consisting of fifty well selected books, one presented by Miller & Rhoads and the other by R. L. Christian. These libraries, as soon as catalogued, will be sent to some of the outlying counties of the State, whose applications come first on the list of those traveling libraries.

Memorial to Pettit.

In the Supreme Court of Appeals of Virginia, Wednesday Hon. A. K. Leake, of this city, formerly of Goodland county, presented resolutions adopted by the bar of this county, in honor of the late Hon. William B. Pettit, an aged and distinguished member of the bar of the State, recently deceased. In presenting the resolutions, Judge Leake, in a few words, related the life of the deceased, who was a lawyer and a citizen. The resolutions were ordered spread upon the records of the court as a memorial to the deceased.

MARRIAGE OF KITTY
ON ACADEMY BOARDS

Clever Comedy to be Played

Here To-night—Bijou's Offerings.

"The Marriage of Kitty," a semi-musical comedy, which was one of the artistic successes in New York last season, will be presented at the Academy to-night, under the direction of Jules Murry. The play is remarkable for the clever, effervescent humor which permeates it. The story is a simple one, but the complications, which are a part of the mental rather than the physical kind. There is no resort to theatrical devices, like the slanting stage, the use of the slanting stage, the use of the slanting stage.

Blanche Whitcher.

Miss Blanche Whitcher is one of the best looking of all the Show Girls at the Bijou this week. It sometimes happens that a chorus girl will hold the attention of the audience by her beauty and grace. This happened in "Foxy Grandpa" when the girl with the red hair was the target for all the opera glasses in the house. She is a very attractive girl, and she is worth any one's adjusting opera glasses in order to gaze upon her.

"Her First False Step."

The Atlanta News thus refers to the play which was given at the Bijou Monday for a stay of a week:

A packed house greeted the first performance in Atlanta of "Her First False Step," the play which has been very highly praised by the many expressions of approval made by those present the theatre will be crowded at every performance. The play deals with the vicissitudes of fortune in the country. Edna Allen, who in a moment of suspicion and jealousy, throws aside her real lover, Jack Walters, to whom she was about to be married, and enters into a marriage with a man of another class.

The play has its quota of sensational incidents, but the melodrama is relieved by snatches of comedy.

A Traveler's Experience.

A party of gentlemen were gathered in the lobby of a leading hotel the other evening, when an argument arose as to what Red Raven really is. One gentleman, who was traveling for a big house in Indianapolis, ventured the assertion that notwithstanding the extensive advertising, out of five in the party not three could tell what Red Raven is, and to what use it is put. When the matter was put to a test it was found that the Indianapolis man had lost, for not only did they all know what Red Raven was, but all used it regularly. As one of the men said:

"I have found, when traveling from place to place, taking my meals at different houses, sometimes on the train and sometimes at the hotel, that my system became deranged, resulting in a sluggish liver, distension of the bowels, lassitude and loss of appetite. I had seen the advertisements of Red Raven and chanced to ask a druggist friend of mine what it meant. You can imagine my surprise at finding Red Raven was the remedy for my condition. For just such a disorder as I was suffering from, I tried a bottle before breakfast the next morning and found prompt relief. I learned that they kept it not only at the drug stores, but at the hotel, and I have since taken it in all my travels, when suffering from headaches, indigestion or nausea. I have been promptly relieved by Red Raven."

BIG COLLECTION OF STOLEN GOODS

Important Arrest of Negro
Sneak Thief by Wren and Amos.

STUFF AT HEADQUARTERS

Property May be Identified by Owners—Thief Silent.

Citizens who have had things taken from their houses, porches, chicken-houses or clothes lines within the past twelve months are asked by the detectives to call at the Inspector's office, Sixth and Marshall Streets, to look over a large assortment of stolen goods, taken from the rooms of John O'Neal, colored, who was arrested as a suspicious character by Detective Wren and Policeman Ames yesterday morning.

The assortment embraces almost everything in the lines of wearing apparel, household goods and jewelry, besides a lot of lead pipe, which O'Neal said he bought from small boys. The list of articles at headquarters for identification would fill half a column if mentioned specifically, but in the list are overcoats, hats, shoes, pants, gold rings, pins, buttons, teapots, silver coffee pots, towels, sheets, underwear, pillow shams, dishes, lamps, books, carpenter's tools, rolls of wall paper, capes, fine set of harness, stove pipes, buckets of paint, horse blankets, carriage robes, pocketbooks, children's clothing, sweaters, silver watch, axes, saws, screens, chairs, bed springs, carpets, rugs, druggists, vases and other things.

His Undoing.

O'Neal did not seem to overlook anything that could be moved, and his indiscretion in attempting to dispose of five dozen dressed chickens in the Second Market yesterday morning proved his undoing sooner probably than it might otherwise have taken place.

The officers have taken possession of the house occupied by O'Neal, No. 417 North Adams Street. They have not yet completed their search of the premises, and they would be but little surprised to find pianos, freight trains or even brick houses, stowed away somewhere about the place.

Detective Wren was standing near the entrance to the detective headquarters yesterday morning about 9 o'clock, passing a word or two with Policeman Ames, when they noticed O'Neal, negotiating a deal with a huckster, concerning five chickens. Detective Wren's ears pricked up and he tipped a wink to Ames. They questioned O'Neal, whose answers were unsatisfactory. Then they took him in charge, and went to his house, where they were visibly startled at the large collection of plunder of every conceivable character.

He looked like the Jotsum and Jotsum arrangements for a rummage sale. My lady's handsome cloak lay aside by side with a pair of woolen socks, and a valuable vase lay in the corner by the side of an old stove pipe. A push cart was filled with a miscellaneous assortment of collars, cuffs and carpets, while a sugar bowl contained a varied selection of underwear, with silk borders.

Stolid Silence.

O'Neal's lips were sealed. Up to that time he had been a leader in his social set, and his tongue wagged incessantly in song and story. But he realized he was up against it, and he stopped talking to think.

"He has some things coming to him," said Detective Wren, "don't disappear him. More than a year ago Johnson arrested O'Neal under the name of Johnson on the charge of surreptitiously taking poultry's early morning milk from their doorways."

He was placed under bonds.

"I know you," O'Neal said to Mr. Ames, and then he relapsed into a dense silence.

Last night a hand saw was identified by Mr. John Woodhull, whose hen house was denuded of a fine lot of pullets not long ago. A specific charge was placed against O'Neal in this case.

Mr. Charles E. Hays identified a gold watch as his property, and a warrant was also sworn out in this case.

There will be a scrutiny in blank warrants after O'Neal is finished with, as most of the stuff found in his possession can easily be identified.

Looking Him Up.

O'Neal is about thirty-five years old. His past is not well known to the police, but they are now probing into it. His future seems to be pretty well mapped out.

This is the third important arrest recently made from the realm of the sneak thief.

The first was that of a negro named Arthur Allen, who was arrested by Policemen Portieux and Gorman, and who was given ten years; the second was William Jones, alias William Johnson, arrested recently by Detectives McMahon and White, who has been sent to the penitentiary for several years, and now comes O'Neal, who will be heard by Justice Crutcher this morning.

Lee's Sweetest Compliment.

The Richmond Academy celebrated Lee's birthday yesterday by giving the boys a half holiday. At the invitation of the school at the opening hour, the school most interestingly of his own school days, striking a sympathetic chord in the hearts of the students. His tribute to General Lee was most beautiful. "The hops," said the speaker, "the sweetest compliment ever paid to Lee was what his mother said of him, that he was a son and a daughter to her, yet a thing that many every boy would blush to have said of him. Still it was just the gentleness and sweetness of his character that made him so far superior to many another brave man."

The boys manifested their appreciation of the address by their heartiest applause.

Entrance Examinations.

Professor S. C. Mitchell, of Richmond College, left yesterday for Lynchburg, where he goes to address the annual meeting of the Anti-Slavery League of Virginia, which was formerly president. From Lynchburg he went to Hollins Institute, where he last night gave an address to the Institute students and a number of the entrance examinations. The Richmond College faculty is deeply interested in the Institute students, as they think it would greatly aid, not only the colleges, but the high schools, by defining their sphere more narrowly.

Mayor on Temperance.

Mayor Carlton McCarthy will speak to-morrow night at the Nineteenth Street Mission at 8 o'clock "Temperance," and his subject will be "Temperance." A great number of the relatives of all concerned looked to court and tried to butt in.

President F. W. Bonbright goes to-day to Charlottesville, where he goes to attend a conference of the college presidents of Virginia to consider the matter of entrance examinations. The Richmond College faculty is deeply interested in the Institute students, as they think it would greatly aid, not only the colleges, but the high schools, by defining their sphere more narrowly.

When a Wife Beater Is Up His Honor Gets Mad.

Edwin Williams and Eugene Bradley, small white boys, who before the Hon. yesterday, charged with destroying the property of Mrs. W. at Sixar. A great number of the relatives of all concerned looked to court and tried to butt in.

Sheriff, the wife of a Pullman conductor, told her tale of woe. A hoard of juvenile Huns and Goths have been in the habit of ripping shutters from her home and betting on how many blades could be ripped off at one fell swoop.

Eddie Williams confessed with a de-bonaire air that he had plucked off a few boards, but he rather thought Mr. Sherer had taken the little incident too much to heart.

Master Bradley carried the war into Africa, declaring that the famoio off-spring of Mrs. Sherer had snatched his favorite top and cast it into a fiery furnace. So enraged was Master Bradley at the burnt sacrifice that he rushed madly at Mrs. Sherer's front porch, and like Sampson, pulled down the pillars of the porch. Master Bradley will be careful not to have his hair cut.

Two Names Omitted.

Inadvertently two names were omitted from the Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, as published yesterday, appointed to ascertain the value of the Chamber of Commerce and Traffic Bureau to the community of Richmond.

The committee consists of fifteen instead of thirteen.

There will be three services at the mission on Sunday.

General Surgeon Now.

Dr. H. S. MacLean was on Wednesday appointed general surgeon for the Passenger and Power Company. He has been one of the surgeons of the company for some time.

Governor in Lynchburg.

Governor Montague left yesterday for Lynchburg, where last night he made an address on the occasion of the anniversary of General Lee's birthday. His Excellency will return here to-day.

Arthur had not so great a snuff concocted in his business garments, and so retired to the seclusion of the pen.

Rosa Braxton was until yesterday the housemaid of Mrs. Thomas Becker. Rosa saw a piece of cloth which was destined to banish the cold from Mrs. Becker. The cloth seemed good to Rosa's eyes and then occurred "the rape of the rag."

Rosa went down for four moons.

Samuel had a $10 wound award in the pen of the penitentiary.
